Pathway: Setup > Account > Account Request Type

The Account Request Type Setup screen allows users to generate a wide range of request types that can be selected when creating a request for an account. Having a standardized set of account requests also assists in filtering on specific request types within the Account Request Management tool.

Field Descriptions

Field	Description
Name	The name for the account request that displays for user selection.
Type	Categorizes the request type.
Active	Controls if the request is available for use.
Allow Account Portal Entry	Allows account requests to be created in the account portal. Requests received from the account portal will display in Account Request Management .
Assign To Default	Automatically assigns account requests received from the portal to the identified user type. When a request is received from the account portal, the user assigned will be alerted.
